1800 K for romantic moments

LEDs with this colour temperature stand for extreme cosiness. They create a sunset mood within your own four walls and provide a candlelight atmosphere without candles.

2850 K or new clarity

Are you somebody who prefers cosiness with a touch of cooler lighting? In this case the LEDs with this colour temperature are the perfect choice for you. They provide a pleasant balance between brightness and cosiness.

2700 K for classic home lighting

Those who still prefer a bit cosiness should go for LEDs at 2700 K. They provide the right atmosphere in every area of your home. They are flexible and can be used in living rooms, bedrooms and bathrooms.
